Bethel College 2008

College is about piecing it all together; it's about discovering who you are and figuring out where you fit. This includes developing life-long friendships, establishing your beliefs (be they religious or not) and pursuing a career. Here at Bethel, pieces can come in all different shapes and sizes with all kinds of different edges. The sports teams have to piece together a strategy for how to win. Professors piece together lessons to best teach their students. Students piece together knowledge to succeed in the classroom. The campus itself fits together in the puzzle through hosting community events such as convo, Gala, and Lighting of The Green. Some pieces may take longer to find their place in the puzzle, but they all make it and fit snugly in their own unique place.

Now, at the end of the year, the puzzle must once again be disassembled, "put back in the box," and wait for a new school year to be reassembled into the puzzle that is Bethel College.

Faith-based Values

"In addition to weekly chapel, students find a variety of ways to express and be nurtured in their spiritual lives at Bethel. A strong faithful group loves weekly Hymn Sing! Others join "The Gathering" for contemporary music and various activities. Athletes enjoy weekly and monthly gatherings of Fellowship of Christian Athletes, led by Coach Yoder and Dr. McFarland. The Young Adult Fellowship, led by local pastors Nathan Koontz and Ruth Harder, meets every Tuesday evening in the BCMC chapel for a time of liturgy and prayer reading."

MINISTRY INQUIRY PROGRAM

GREETING FRIENDS

Miriam Regier (left) and Barbara Krehbiel Gehring and Richard Gehring, co-pastors of Manhattan (Kan.) Mennonite Church (center) talk with a congregation member following a Sunday morning service.

MIP is a joint program of Mennonite Church USA and the MC USA-affiliated colleges to help college-age young adults consider pastoral ministry as a vocation. Students do not have to be Mennonite to participate although they are placed in Mennonite congregations. MIP allows students to experience ministry first-hand under the supervision of an experienced pastor. They also receive up to $2,000 in scholarship funds to be applied to tuition, and the host congregation supplies housing and money for other living expenses during the 11-week term.

Miriam's brother, Peter, visited her placement.

SAN JOSE CONVENTION

For the 2007 Mennonite Church USA Conference in San Jose, Calif., Bethel decided to do something different and present a booth that centered around service, rather than giving away gifts to prospective students.

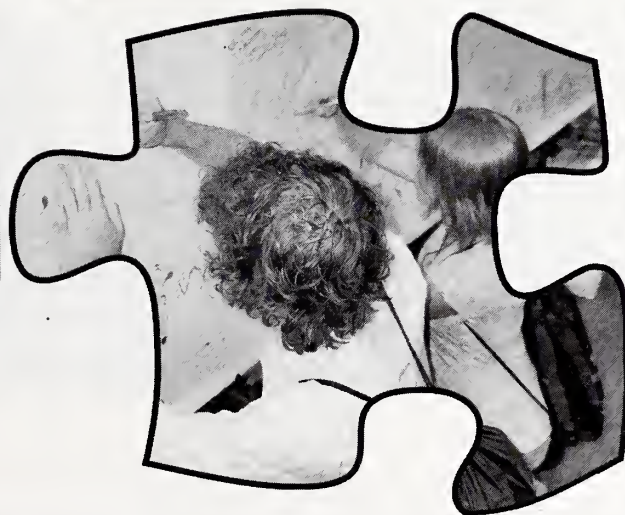

"San Jose proved a wonderful opportunity for Open Road to share its music with the wider Mennonite Church while making valuable connections with students and musicians from other Mennonite colleges."

— Aaron Linscheid

TEHRAN IRAN

In the first meeting of its kind since the 1979 Islamic revolution, a delegation of 13 American religious leaders, including representatives of Mennonite Central Committee, met with the Iranian President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad in Iran on Feb. 24. Professor of Bible and religion Patty Shelly was a member of the delegation.

Wall hangings and ceramic oil lamps were presented from the delegation as gestures of peacemaking. Pictured here is Ron Flaming of MCC and Ayatollah Mohammad Araqi, president of the Organization of Culture and Islamic Relations. Churches around the world are encouraged to light oil lamps as a sign of solidarity with the people of Iran.

Fellow throwers Garrett Hiebert, freshman from Goessel placed 6th (194'7") and David Daugharthy, sophomore from Iola placed 9th (190'5"). Hiebert also earned All-American honors with his finish.

KCAC, NAIA Honors

Bethel athletes from all sports receive many KCAC and NAIA honors each year. Hard work and determination are required to receive these honors.

Junior Kristen Schrag had an outstanding season winning the Libero-of-the-Year Award of Region IV and getting voted first team all KCAC unanimously.

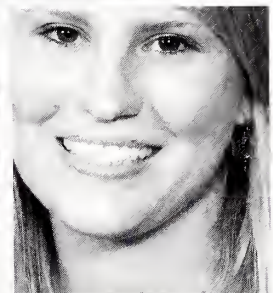

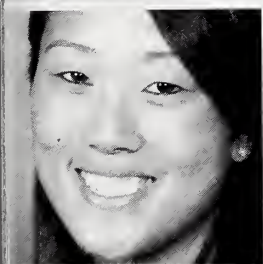

Known for his athleticism, senior Brandon Kaufman was a NAIA All-American in defense and also received unanimous voting for KCAC first team defense. The defensive back was named the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics defensive player of the week and first-team All-American on defense by the Victory Sports Network.
